Advent 2009 through the 4th Sunday of Ordinary Time 2010

BRINGING HOPE TO BIRTH

Advent is a time of anticipation for us as Catholic Christians. Just as any family awaits and prepares for the birth of a child so we wait and prepare ourselves for Christmas when Christ's first coming is remembered. But what we really await with such anticipation is the Second Coming, the messianic era when all things will be put right and God's reign of justice will be complete. We proclaim this belief every Sunday but each year at Advent we are challenged to give our waiting renewed form. We are called to continuing conversion, to turn away from selfishness and hostility, to live in a new way of peace, mercy, justice and love.

Advent within the church stands in stark contrast to the blatant commercialization going on outside the church during those four weeks. The blaring Christmas music, the crowded malls, the frenzied shopping, baking, decorating and partying make it almost impossible to maintain our focus on renewal and conversion. Yet when we enter church we find an oasis of stillness—just our wonderful Advent wreath and the repetition of “O Come, O Come Emmanuel.” Every week we have this opportunity for quiet to refocus on the remembrance of the arrival of the Christ child and to renew our determination to continue the mission of peace and justice inaugurated by Christ.

As Liturgical Ministers we have a special role during Advent – to help provide a refuge of quiet that will allow worshipers to gather themselves and reflect on this holy season. Our manner and attitude should reflect this season of quiet, hope and anticipation. Remember it is the liturgical season of Advent and not the Christmas season—the Christmas season begins on Christmas Eve and brings the opportunity for EVANGELIZATION to all parishioners.

Not only are the Christmas liturgies filled with our regular faithful parishioners but the C & E Catholics as well. We don't have to go knocking on doors or scheduling a meeting to woo back those who are alienated or separated from the church. We don't have to go to some far away, uncomfortable place to preach to those we hope to reach. They all come to us! They come to our turf where we are comfortable and they are not because they are reaching for some Christmas Feeling—if not for themselves then for their children or grandchildren. And what is this Christmas Feeling they are reaching for? It's the longing for the divine. It may be all confused with pictures of baby angels and reindeer and reruns of It's a Wonderful Life, but these folks don't have to come to a crowded, stuffy church, yet they do. So let's not blow it—this hour is a gold mine. You can make a lasting impression by a friendly smile, a welcoming greeting or an introduction at the Sign of Peace and an invitation to return next Sunday. This welcoming attitude is not just for the Hospitality Ministers and the Super Greeters but for all of us—you may truly change someone's life!

H1N1 UPDATE

We are asking the Communion Ministers and the Sacristans to take some precautionary steps in light of the potential spread of the H1N1 flu. An automated hand sanitizer will be installed beside the sink in the Hospitality Minister area behind the sacristan sign-in station. After signing in, all Communion Ministers are asked to cleanse their hands prior to taking their seats. The sacristan should also do this before setting up the bread and wine for communion. Additional precautions are at the discretion of the individual. First of all—if you are sick, stay at home.

If you are uncomfortable participating in the Exchange of Peace with a hand shake substitute a friendly smile and greeting.

Taking wine at Communion is always optional.
